How to look busy

By: Dan Zevin

Generally, this will not be a concern until you are promoted to an executive position. But once you've created the illusion that you serve even the slightest purpose at your place of "business," there's no telling how far you'll go. In the real working world, productivity is all a matter of appearances.

Appearance: You are furiously taking notes while conducting an important telephone marketing survey.

Reality: You are pretending to take notes while talking to your friend who has called collect from Bulgaria.

Appearance: You are staring at an empty computer screen, absorbed in deep thought.

Reality: You have pressed "Escape" just in time, erasing an enthralling game of Solitaire.

Discover How to Avoid Extra Costs & Save Thousands When Buying a Home

Whether you're looking to buy your first home, or trading up to a larger one, there are many extra costs – on top of the purchase price – that you must figure into your calculation of affordability. These extra fees, such as taxes and other additional costs could surprise you with an unwanted financial nightmare on closing day if you are not prepared and informed.

Some of these costs are one time fixed payments, while others represent an ongoing monthly or yearly commitment. While not all of these costs will apply in every situation, it's better to know about them ahead of time so that you can budget properly.

Remember buying a home is a major milestone, and whether it's your first, second or tenth, there are many small but important details, not to mention the stress and excitement, to deal during the process. The last thing you need are unbudgeted financial obligations in the hours before you take possession of your new home.

To help homebuyers understand what those extra costs are, and what situations they apply, a FREE industry report has been prepared called "13 Extra Costs to be Aware of When Buying a Home"

To order your free copy of this report, call (403) 701-1739 and ask for Free Buyers Report. You can call 7 Days a week from 9am to 9pm, call NOW to make sure you save money and avoid extra costs on your next move.
